The Power and the Glory of God's Word

Dear Co-Laborers in Christ,
 January 2009

Thank you for partnering with us in 2008. It has been a milestone in our ministry...seeing so many people making commitments to follow Jesus and make a difference...not just a dent...a difference. Our young people, the college students, and churches taking up the challenge of winning those who do not embrace Jesus are growing.

Helping and challenging churches to become actively involved in sending missionaries to the fields is a major and passionate part of my ministry. God loves people. His heart is open. To see tribes and nations, transformed, worshipping before the Lord. This calls for absolute dependence on God.

It's so interesting to see God work through my messages. Those of you who pray for me and give financially are part of the message. God blesses every person who is a part of His ministry. I often have people come up to me and say, "I wish I could be a missionary." I say, "You are a missionary right where you are. As a mother, your children are your highest priority. That is your mission field or wherever you work".

As a born again believer we are all called...we are all missionaries. The mission field is our neighbor, the person next to us, those who we work with, etc. Some are called to go, some to pray, some to give, some to send, etc. We are all His disciples, ambassadors, witnesses, and children of God.

People love my stories (and I love telling them) about those 24 years in the jungles of New Guinea, giving them the Word of God in their language. Seeing a group of cannibals and head hunters come to the Lord is so amazing and miraculous...not just come to the Lord but working hard to reach the other villages up and down the rivers. That, my friends, is the power and glory of God's Word.

I look forward to seeing how God does the impossible and the miraculous in 2009 through people like you who continue to pray and give generously.

Together in His service

Marilyn Laszlo
